

Make no little plans; they have no magic to stir men's blood and probably themselves will not be realized. Make big plans: aim high in hope and work, remembering that a noble, logical diagram once recorded will never die, but long after we are gone will be a living thing, asserting itself with ever-growing insistency. Remember that our sons and grandsons are going to do things that would stagger us.

Construction of a fountain in the Baby Oval is set for next year.

Many changes have been made at Montana State University (Opps!)—University of Montana—during 1964-65. The change of name on July 1 was probably the most notable.

Historical buildings such as Photo-Radio-T.V. Building and Sentinel Office, Cook Hall, and Alumni House were demolished while Miller Hall rose to meet the demands of an expanding university. As students crammed for spring quarter finals, construction was already under way for another residence hall on Arthur Avenue. And soon the broken asphalt of the 600 block of University Avenue will be transformed into a mall of grass and monuments, welcoming visitors to UM's campus.

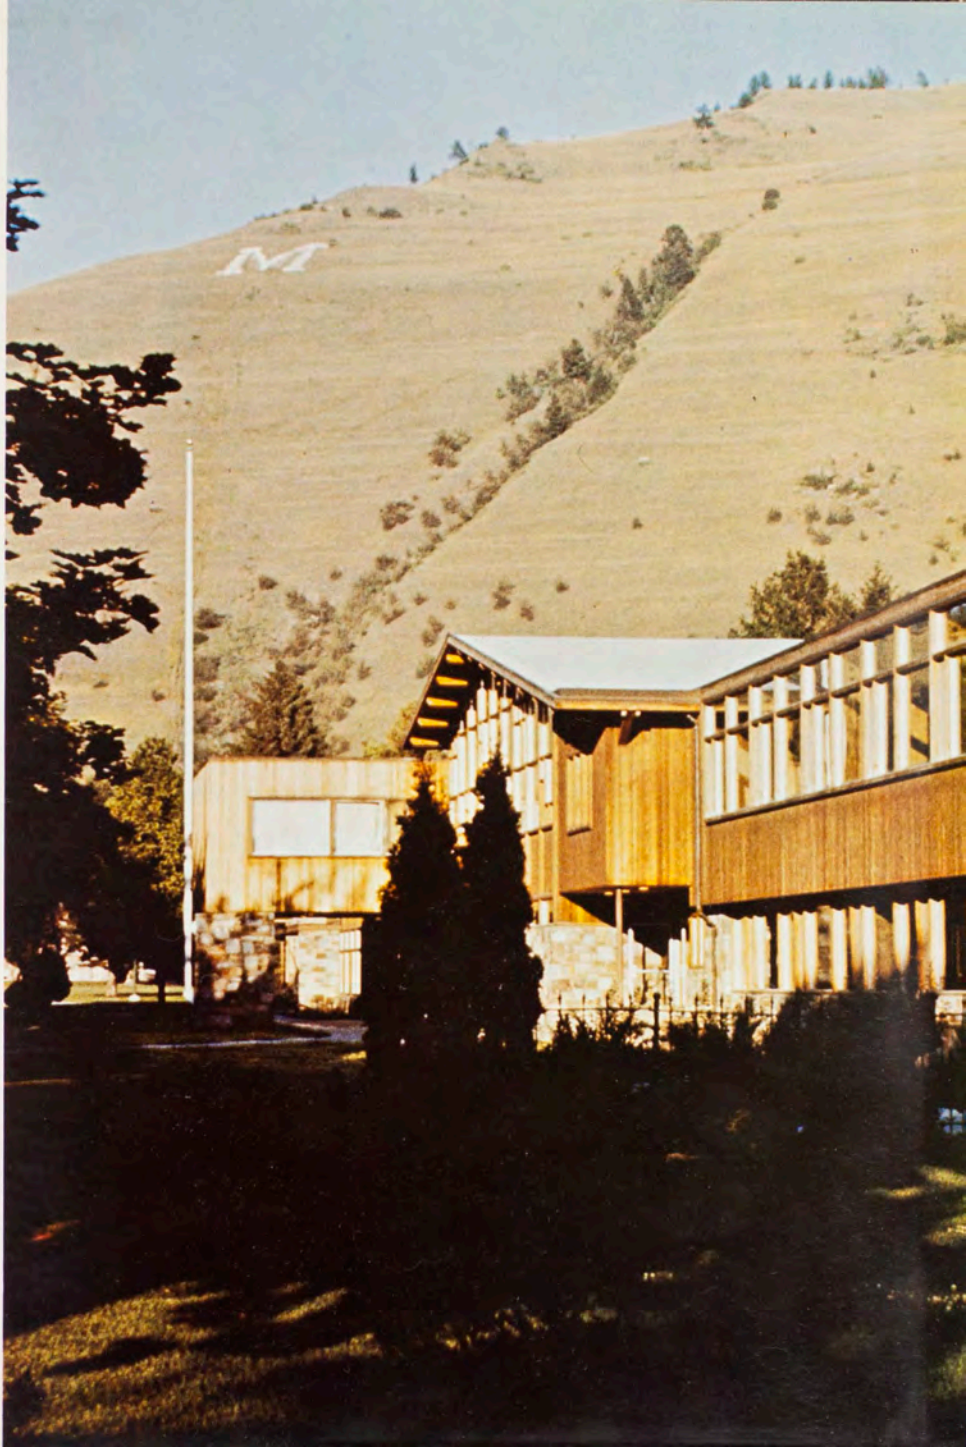

Enrollment projections indicate that UM must anticipate an enrollment of 9,000 students by 1975. To establish a flexible framework for orderly and rational development, the Long Range Campus Plan was prepared to set a policy for the physical development of the campus (see endsheets).

As the report points out, this growth involves much more than just physical planning: "As a university grows in size and maturity its functions and responsibilities increase likewise. Among the major responsibilities of an institution of higher education is that it be a prime cultural resource of the community and State. Fulfillment of this responsibility requires appropriate facilities and environment. The man who experiences daily association with good architecture, sculpture, landscaping and consciously ordered environment must inevitably become more sensitive to form, order and delight in man-made surroundings, and this awareness will be exerted upon the community which he joins. A university campus should engender this sensitivity, as well as accomplishing its basic educational objectivies.....University of Montana has become a complex institution, performing a variety of functions including instruction, research, student activities and services, public service programs, and similar activities.....as the University's resources and facilities expand to serve increasing enrollment, it anticipates a correspondingly broadened scope of educational, cultural, scientific and economic service to the community and to the State."

A view of the over-all plans and purposes of the University of Montana is portrayed on the following pages.

BOARD OF REGENTS

Left to right: Mr. John D. French, Mrs. Marjorie W. King, Mr. John E. O'Neill, Mr. M. E. Richard, Miss Harriet Miller, Governor Tim Babcock, Attorney General Forrest H. Anderson, Mr. A. A. Arras Jr., Mr. Gordon Mullendore, Dr. Gordon Doering, Mr. Boynton G. Paige.

For the past year President Robert Johns, together with the Montana State Board of Regents, has been planning for the expansion of the University of Montana. According to the long-range development plan, UofM will be able to accommodate 9,000 students in 1975. The plan was officially authorized early in 1964 and is scheduled for completion in 1975. President Johns' hopes to begin construction on a science complex in 1965 were thwarted by the legislature, which failed to allot sufficient funds for the project.

Among President Johns' more enjoyable tasks is greeting new students during Orientation Week.

This year two new deans have been added to the academic staff, the Dean of Library Service, Earle C. Thompson, and the Dean of the Graduate School, Fred S. Honkala. As heads of their respective fields, the deans manage the academic program of the University.

DEANS OF STUDENTS

As Dean of Students, Andrew C. Cogswell heads the complete counseling services offered by the University. His job is a difficult one, since the responsibility for final decisions on student regulations rests on his shoulders.

Andrew C. Cogswell
Dean of Students

The network of counseling services offered to women students comes under the auspice of the office of the Dean of Women, Maurine Clow. Personal problems, academic snags, opportunities for broader horizons, and obedience to regulations are handled directly or indirectly through this office.

Maurine Clow
Associate Dean of Students

The services of the dean's office are rounded out by Anthony Valach, Assistant Dean of Students, who handles the counseling services offered to male students at UM. Nearly every male student on campus feels his influence at one time during his college career.

GOVERNMENT

President—Bob Liffring

ASUM OFFICERS

Vice President—Bonnie Bowler

Secretary—Lela Weggenman

Business Manager—Bill Hibbs

CENTRAL BOARD

Elected by and responsible to the students of the University of Montana, Central Board establishes policy and guides student affairs. Probably the Board's greatest task is the allocating of $176,000 of student funds to fifteen committees, four publications, and numerous dependent activities. This year, Central Board was plagued by the usual problems of how to bring more and better entertainment to campus, what to do about the lack of attendance at CB meetings, and how to boost student interest in student affairs. After months of debate and investigation, the campus government at last affiliated U of M with the Associated Student Governments of the United States of America (ASGUSA).

ELECTIONS COMMITTEE

Elections Committee is responsible for the accurate and efficient execution of all campaigns and elections, with most of their work concentrated on the last and largest election of the year—the election of the student body officers.

Bottom Row: Cindy Wood, Kaycee Clausen (chairman), Bobbi Hall.

HOMECOMING COMMITTEE

The organization behind Homecoming Weekend, with its queen, parade, football game, entertainment, and the greeting of returning alumni, comes from this small, hard-working committee headed by Kaycee Clausen.

BUDGET AND FINANCE COMMITTEE

Under the direction of Bill Hibbs, Budget and Finance Committee hears and decides upon requests for ASUM funds by various campus organizations.

Debate and Oratory is one of the many organizations which receives funds from Budget and Finance.

GARRET

Garret, formerly the Venture, was delayed in its inception by the plague common to campus publications, editorial conflict. But with the selection of Editor Kitty Wright, progress began and a single edition appeared during spring quarter. Miss Wright and her staff brightened the literary magazine with color, art, and photographs although they were handicapped by a lack of student contributions.

"M" BOOK COMMITTEE

Under the direction of Ellen Broadus, "M" Book has undergone a complete revision. The official student handbook has been updated and enlarged in an effort to make it more useful to incoming freshmen.

Bottom Row: Penny Huber, Ellen Broadus (editor). Second Row: Dianne Brown, Judy Broeder, Gwen Lloyd, Laura Harrington.

Shelly Thompson and Mrs. C. Schuster discuss plans for Leadership Camp.

LEADERSHIP CAMP COMMITTEE

Traditionally, each spring quarter, representatives of each living group, heads of student government, and those interested in discussing and hearing views concerning the campus, gather on the shores of Flathead Lake for a three day conference. The camp includes both formal messages of policy and informal discussions among members of the faculty and students.

Bottom Row: Robin McCann, Donna Berland, Shelly Thompson (chairman), Jim Redmond, Jo Ann Hacker. Second Row: Ed Russell, Gus Gianis, Ted Flynn.

PUBLICATIONS BOARD

Publications Board's responsibility lies with the four ASUM publications – the "M" Book, the Kaimin, the Garret, and the Sentinel. This board not only selects the working personnel for these publications but also holds control over them.

Cheerleader Julie Rogers displays agility at a Grizzly game.

TRADITIONS BOARD

Guardians of the traditions at U of M, "T" Board organizes the Singing On the Steps, the pep rallies, and the bi-annual rejuvenating of the "M" and "Hello Walk". A constant reminder of the diligent work of this membership is the enthusiastic cheerleaders and pom pom girls, all selected by the board.

Much of the responsibility for the success of Parents' Day fell on co-chairman Brett Asselstine.

PARENT'S DAY COMMITTEE

Chairmen Brett Asselstine and Nancy Taylor co-operated with the various departments and living groups to familiarize parents with U of M and its wide array of activities.

PLANNING BOARD

Planning Board draws many of the short and long-term plans which Central Board acts upon. It's success is measured by the number of proposals that it helps to bring into reality.

Bottom Row: Tom Behan (chairman), Whitey Fairley. Second Row: Marc Davis, Nancy Tout, Sue Stoterau, Bob Fletcher.

WORLD UNIVERSITY SERVICE

Each spring quarter, World University Service Committee organizes a week of events which is climaxed by a carnival. Proceeds from this event go to a needy area previously agreed upon by an international committee of which WUS is an affiliate.

Though forced inside because of rain, the World University Service Carnival drew a large crowd.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Working to give the student body a glimpse of nationally-known entertainers, Special Events Committee arranges for campus appearances of entertainers such as Roger Williams and The New Christy Minstrels. This committee is also responsible for the first formal renewal of student friendships through the Registration Dances held at the beginning of each quarter.

Marsha Korin and Jeanne Mattews (chairman) look for coming events to publicize.

PUBLICITY COMMITTEE

Along with the Kaimin, Publicity Committee serves as an agency which strives to keep the students well informed. These "poster printers" advertise all ASUM-approved social functions. The success, the attendance, are often dependent upon this small, hard-working faction.

VISITING LECTURES COMMITTEE

Seated from left to right: Lynn Estey, Arnie Gutfeld (chairman), Dr. Dew, Dr. Brown, Dr. Lory (faculty advisor), Dr. Hoffman, Cathy Browman, Jean Miller, Dr. Gilbert, Dr. Roberts, Dr. Inabnit, Dennis Hostetler, Cathy Wolhowe. Standing: Dr. Wehrenberg.

Working to establish interest between students and national newsmakers, Visiting Lectures Committee searches to find lecturers available for campus appearances. Hopefully their views will broaden student interest in national and international topics. The wide spectrum of qualified speakers this year includes such diverse personages as the archaeologist William Mulloy and Oregon's Governor Mark Hatfield.

Oregon's Governor Mark Hatfield brings the liberal Republican view to campus.

ASSOCIATED WOMEN STUDENTS

Associated Women Students is composed of all women students at U of M. Represented by a board of delegates from all women's living groups, the women formulate policies by which they govern themselves and initiate programs to acquaint girls with each other and university life. To achieve this end they sponsor such activities as Big-Little Sister Program and the Miss UM contest, an annual event which brings out the beautiful, talented women on campus in open competition for this coveted crown.

The new Miss UM is congratulated by well-wishing supporters.

AUXILIARY SPORTS BOARD

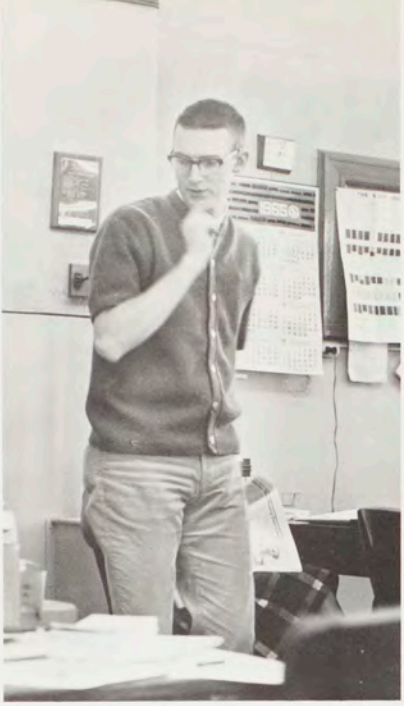

Allocating the money for the minor sports, this committee supports many of the student activity clubs financially. Though small in number, it controls a large budget, dividing it among many organizations.

ACTIVITIES COORDINATOR

Though not a committee by himself, Phil Miller, acting as Activities Coordinator, works with many of the ASUM committees to synchronize their planning and to prevent any overlapping of ideas. New this year in the system of student government, the position has proven its value, but needs competent workers, such as Phil, to achieve the aims of the position.

Phil Miller is the newest cog in the ASUM machinery.

Much of the responsibility for the Kaimin's success fell on the shoulders of Jim Crane, managing editor.

KAIMIN

Business Manager Emily Melton and her assistant, Karalee Stewart, check over the Kaimin accounts.

The Kaimin reports campus, state, and national news and opinion in an independent tabloid edited by student journalists. Often it proves to be the only contact between the student and the news world.

Luckii Ludwig and Gary Kimble are just two of the many Kaimin staff members.

Like many Kaimin reporters, Todd Brandoff spends the afternoon polishing a story.

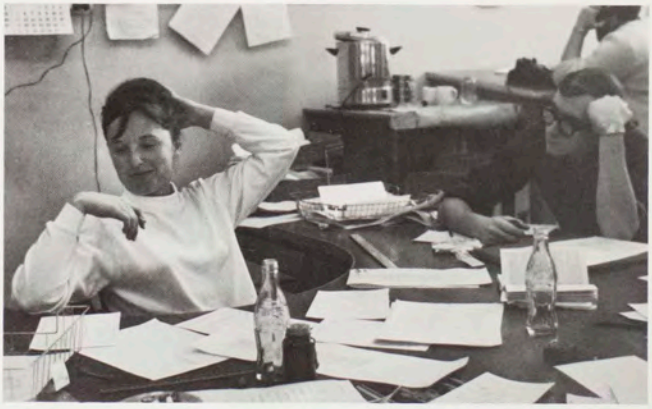

A willing counsel, Ed Dugan serves as adviser to the Kaimin.

Sports Editor Bill Walter prepares a story before the Kaimin goes to press.

Walter Bailey, Kaimin photographer, served the paper from January to March.

Nancy Engelbach, associate editor, takes five after a long afternoon.

Editor Mignon Redfield found the yearbook to be time consuming but rewarding.

SENTINEL

The result speaks of the effort of the persons involved. You, the reader, pass the final judgment on the effort of the 1965 Sentinel staff.

Business Manager Marge Clark struggled to keep ahead of correspondence for the yearbook.

Adviser and friend to the staff, Cyrile VanDuser counseled and supported the staff throughout the year.

Among the pictures taken by head photographer John Lumb was the color shot used for this year's cover.

Finishing the year as assistant photographer, Ron Normandeau served well and will return next year.

Jim Redmond served as assistant photographer for fall and winter quarters.

Mareen Jacobs, associate editor, contributed long hours toward the completion of the Sentinel.

Dan Mullen, sports editor, proved to be an industrious, lighthearted member of the staff.

Ron Waterman, associate editor, found the Sentinel provided him with more than a part time job.

Raenelle Maxwell, the only freshman on the staff, drew the chore of completing the class and academic sections of the Sentinel.

CITIES

TANAN OF SPUR

President—Sheila Skemp
Advisers—Mrs. Charles Parker
Mrs. Albert Stone

Accompanying the Bearpaws in campus duties, the Spurs add the attractive element to such events as Singing On the Steps, Sadie Hawkins Dance, and ushering at school events. Each member is representative of the spirit, leadership and scholastic qualities hopefully found in all students.

Spurs are amused by the action on the steps.

Spurs attract voters to freshman elections.

BEARPAWS

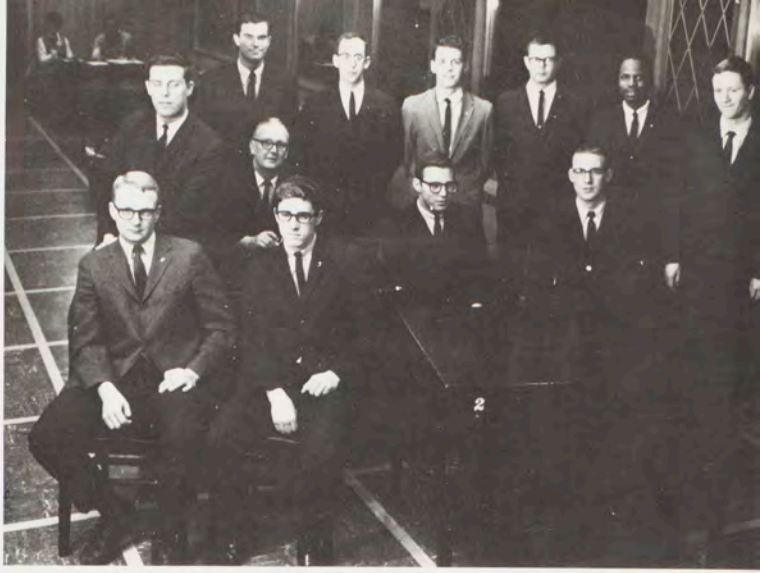

President—Richard Holmquist
Advisers—Vedder Gilbert
Nelson Fritz

Sophomore men of the University interested in service often are found concentrated in the Bearpaw organization. The Bearpaws show their interest in improvement of the school, as indicated by their willing work on the M, Hello Walk, and in the many hours spent ushering at sports events.

SILENT SENTINEL

President—Jerry McGahan
Adviser—Dr. R. T. Turner

Silent Sentinel is the senior men's honorary dedicated to service of the school. Chosen on the basis of scholarship and leadership, the members work without publicity to accomplish projects which improve the university and the student body.

President—Jack Redgren
Adviser—Vincent Wilson

Phi Epsilon Kappa is the men's athletic honorary which seeks to further the individual welfare of its members and further research in the field of physical education.

Bottom Row: Charles Olson, Martin Ueland, Jack Redgren (president), Vincent Wilson (adviser). Second Row: Jim Reid, Bob Friauf, Jim Forman, Ed Shpiel, Don Welti, Jim Casey, John Comporesi, Larry Thorne. Third Row: Lafay Hope, Rich Schipporeit, Garry Kanz, Jim Braley, Erik Ogren, Pat McLemore, Bob Moody, Ron Jones, Bob Kinney, Louis Overcast.

SILVERTIP SKYDIVERS

The sport of skydiving has campus recognition and representation through the Silvertip Skydivers. After many practice sessions, members of the club represent the U of M at numerous national skydiving events.

Preparing for another jump are from the left, Wayne Kubasko, Penn Stohr, Mike Snavely, and Tom Mitchell.

A skydiver maneuvers himself for an on-target landing.

Mike Snavely packs his parachute.

GRIZZLY RODEO CLUB

Students interested in rodeo competition, of matching skill against animal strength, find a focal point for activity in the Rodeo Club which is responsible for the annual U of M Rodeo.

SOCCER CLUB

Soccer, being an international sport, draws its strength from the foreign students of U of M. Participating in games against other college teams, the Soccer Club opens the sport to the interested students willing to compete in this fast moving game.

AIR FORCE ROTC

One of the two ROTC programs on campus is the Air Force Wing which prepares students for service and careers in the Air Force. Since both juniors and seniors serve as officers, the Air Force program quickly gives those enrolled in the four-year program an opportunity to lead.

AFROTC officers discuss maneuvers to be performed during that day's drill.

Without rifles, Angel Flight holds the attention of crowds equally as well as does the Drill Team.

DRILL TEAM

The Air Force Drill Team combines precision marching with rifle maneuvers during performances at basketball games and drill competition.

Background for spring drill is provided by the Air Force Band.

The Air Force honorary for junior and senior cadets, Arnold Air Society, recognizes those cadets who possess outstanding leadership and scholastic qualities.

ANGEL FLIGHT

Commander—Libby Sale

The girls of Angel Flight are the unchallenged queens of the Air Force Wing. During winter quarter, they perform marching exhibitions at basketball games; spring quarter puts them on the marching field with the cadets, serving as honor guards during the drills. These girls, chosen each fall quarter, are the pick of the freshman and sophomore classes.

COUNTER GUERILLA

Another of the training plans available through the ROTC program is Counter Guerrillas, which offers field training to those willing to endure the rigors of strenuous physical exertion.

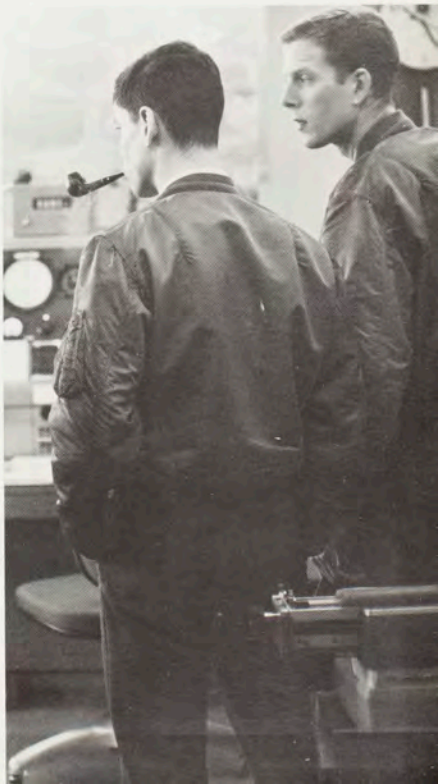

Left to Right: Doug Terrel, Guy Hatlie, Ralph Johnson, Charles Bahr, Doyle Ward, Dennis Burr.

FLIGHT PROGRAM

One program offered to the advance cadets is the Flight Program, which gives pilot training and certification to those able to qualify and to complete the instruction.

Doug Terrel and Doyle Ward check the weather before flight.

The Counter Guerrillas advance during maneuvers.

K-DETTES

Dad (Raymon Bruce) comes swinging out of the closet while Rosalie (Corliss Nickerson) tries to seduce Jonathan (Les Hankinson).

Jonathan wooes Rosalie in "Oh Dad, Poor Dad".

"OH, DAD, POOR DAD,. . .

Mama's Hung You In The Closet

And I'm Feeling So Sad"

Directed by Douglas Bankson

Madame Rosepettle (Georgia Tree) warns Jonathan not to associate with Rosalie

Returning after a successful summer run, Arthur Kopit's "Oh, Dad, Poor Dad . . ." again entertained the students during fall quarter. Centered around a peculiar woman (Georgia Tree) and her son (Les Hankinson), the play presents their exaggerated and distorted attitudes toward marriage, children, and sex.

For bringing to life such a mass of personalities, praise goes to all members of the cast.

The sets were created by Leo Kerz, noted scene designer and visiting professor at U of M during summer quarter.

Madame Rosepettle dances with Commodore Rose-above (Larry James) after dining.

MY FAIR LADY

Directed by Firman H. Brown

The Jubileers sing in the race scene.

The Cockneys (Doug Manning, Michael Daley, Gary Guthrie, and Bill Stephens) warm their hands over a smudge pot while Eliza Doolittle (Sue Noreen) sings.

Reincarnated upon the stage of U of M's University Theater were the characters of Eliza Doolittle and Henry Higgins, excellently portrayed by Sue Noreen and David Hunt. The play, a universal favorite, once again exhibited its ability to absorb the audience in such a way that it soon found itself observing life in nineteenth century London.

The highly skilled actors put on a three hour production fully worthy of the play's origin, a New York Broadway theater. Praise should go not only to the highly captivating actors, but also to the crew, who put in long hours and hard work so necessary for the accomplishment of such a feat. The crew deserves praise for the London settings.

The audience showed their appreciation for the spectacular, professional entertainment by filling the theater with their applause.

Working on the set are Dick James, Larry James, Sandy James, and Glenn Gauer.

Henry Higgins (David Hunt) and Colonel Pickering (Bill Dobson) are exuberant over Eliza's (Sue Noreen) mastering of the proper English tongue.

On her knees before Queen Elizabeth (Kathy Cody), the Dark Lady (Trina Ambrose) pleads for William's (Ted Ulmer) life.

Shakespeare (Ted Ulmer) converses with Queen Elizabeth (Kathy Cody).

Shakespeare (Ted Ulmer) argues with the Warder (Glenn Gauer).

"THE DARK LADY OF THE SONNETS"

The Masquer productions, "The Dark Lady of the Sonnets" by George Bernard Shaw and "Miss Julie" by August Strindberg, are directed by advanced drama students for fulfillment of graduation requirements.

In "The Dark Lady of the Sonnets," directed by Don Thomson, the author's appeal for a national theater is evident through his use of characters portraying William Shakespeare (Ted Ulmer) and Queen Elizabeth (Kathy Cody). The genius, William Shake-

Julie (Patsy Maxson) clasps the hand of her new found love, Jean (Noel Young).

Kristin (Connie Cody), Jean (Noel Young), and Julie (Patsy Maxson) discuss their relationship.

The peasants (Barbara Trott and Bruce Buls) are gleeful after an evening of dancing.

"MISS JULIE"

speare, is portrayed as an ordinary, uninspired man whose drama dialogue is plagiarized from the conversations of ordinary people.

"Miss Julie", directed by Georgia Tree, is set in late 19th century Sweden. Strindberg presents Miss Julie (Patsy Maxon) as a confused young woman who can't accustom herself to society's norms. This play deals with the influence of heredity and environment on an individual's character.

David Whitwell conducts the concert band during their December concert.

Fall quarter sees numerous cultural events.

Faculty and student vocal and instrumental recitals offer exciting and challenging experience in the world of music and art.

The annual Christmas Convocation, directed by Don Carey gives students a thrilling reading of Handel's Messiah, performed by combined University singing groups and the U of M Symphonette. The Convocation not only brought the Christmas message to the students, but also served as a welcome break from fall quarter exams.

Nationally famous art exhibits as well as faculty and student displays are available to the students. The displays, sponsored by the art department, are exhibits of unusual creativity.

Drama offers many opportunities for students. All are encouraged to take part in the tryouts for the Masquer production, Macbeth.

One of the highlights of the Yuletide season is the Christmas Convocation.

Macbeth gets underway with tryouts.

FINE ARTS

Mr. Dewiss views student creations at art show. The winning exhibits are: "Little Lady" (on wall) by John Rhodes; "G-Pot" (on stand) by Leonard Stach; "1510 Pleasant Street" (in front) by Jim Stevenson.

Widow Bess (Kathleen Cody) consoles Jack (Mike Rafferty) after selling Bossy, their cow.

JACK AND THE BEANSTALK

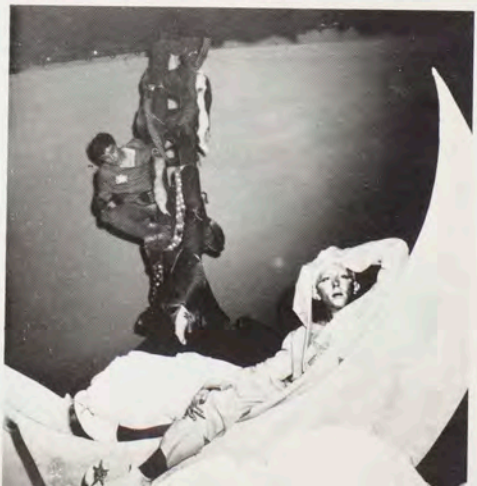

"Jack and the Beanstalk" begins the Drama Department's series of plays aimed at entertaining youngsters of the Missoula area. Jack is played by Mike Rafferty, guest star from Sentinel High School.

Certain problems arise in appealing to a younger audience. For one, the actors must help the youngsters assume a role in the story. Participation generates and maintains the childrens' interest. Also, the play's appearance must be kept simple. The dramatists admirably overcome both difficulties. The result is a successful production that will go on tour.

Jack talks with Man in the Moon (Michael Daley) on his return from a visit to the Giant.

The Giant (Bruce Buls) and Harp (Barbara Trott) watch the Giant's wife dance to her death.

Mrs. Venable (Barbara Jo Whitney) tells Dr. Sugar (Duncan Crump) of her late son.

SUDDENLY LAST SUMMER

Acts from two dynamic plays constituted the Montana Masquers Winter Quarter Workshop Series. Tennessee Williams' "Suddenly Last Summer" tells of a domineering mother (Barbara Jo Whitney) who wishes to protect the image of her deceased son at any cost. Catherine (Patsy Maxson) reveals the truth of the son's death in an emotional performance that brings the play to a dramatic climax.

Catherine pleads with Mrs. Holly (Sue Noreen) and George Holly (Michael Daley) to believe her story.

Cliff comforts his best friend's wife, Alison.

"LOOK BACK IN ANGER"

"Look Back in Anger" shows how the pressures of a triangle of young people can lead to an outburst of suppressed emotions. Without really meaning to do so, Jimmy Porter (Gary Anderson) drives his wife (Barbara Trott) to the brink of insanity by his biting comments about their relationship. Doug Manning portrays the family "friend" who, while keeping the marriage in balance, also disrupts the harmony.

The colorful sets and gay costumes brighten the University Theater.

"DIE FLEDERMAUS"

Johann Strauss' comic opera, "Die Fledermaus", is presented at UM by the Canadian Opera Company. In the delightful performance the action revolves around a revenge joke perpetrated by a doctor against a wealthy Austrian baron. Taking liberties with the libretto, Ruth and Thomas Martin bring the opera into a modern mood.

The Canadian troupe received a well-earned standing ovation as the curtains closed.

As the curtain time draws near, a crowd gathers.

Larry Barsness portray's the tipsy porter.

After hours of preparation, a 35-member cast presents Shakespeare's most obsessive play, "Macbeth". Director Douglas Bankson and his cast make use of several modern techniques in an effort to make this 350-year-old play meaningful in a modern world. The stage setting is unchanging with movement of lights rather than scenery. Through a forceful delivery as Macbeth, Jim Baker conveys to the audience the tangled plight of a man trapped between his loyalty and his ambition. Amidst witches and apparitions, Macbeth is destroyed in a nightmare of his own creation. His unchecked will drives him to murder and finally to his own destruction. Macbeth comes to the tragic realization that life "is a tale told by an idiot, full of sound and fury, signifying nothing". With neither grace nor hope, Macbeth meets death as a hollow shell of a man who might be any of us.

Lady Macbeth prods her husband in his struggle for power.

Douglas Bankson and the cast succeed in making Shakespeare's tragedy meaningful.

STUDENT ART

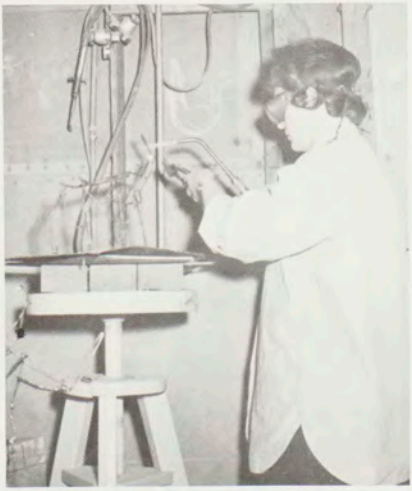

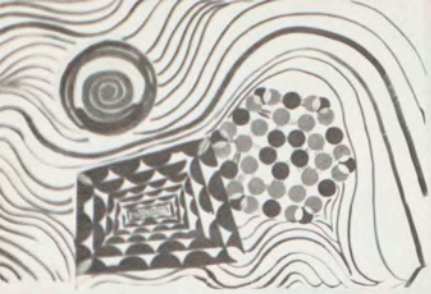

Some of the greatest talent on campus is missed by the majority of students. Hours of tedious work go into the painting and sculptures in the fine arts department.

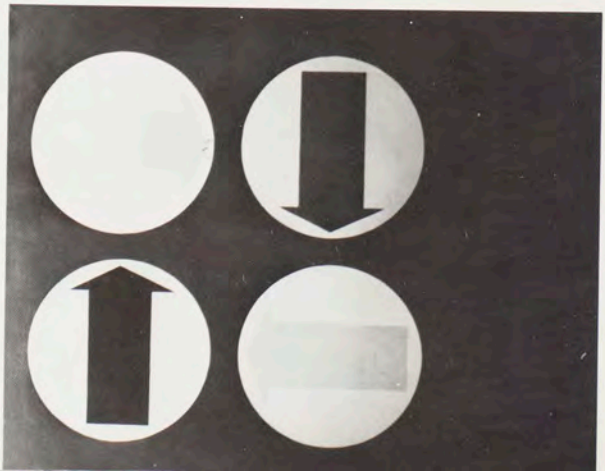

ART DISPLAYS

Few students ever see the art displays in the halls of the Fine Arts Building after the work is done.

ORCHESIS CONCERT

Among the cultural displays available to UM students spring quarter was an evening of modern dance performed by the members of Orchesis. Miss Sondra Horton (right) and her dance group opened their program with an interpretation of Marcello's Courante and danced on through characteristic folk dances of Mexico, Yugoslavia, and the Philippines to a jazz collage of eleven dances to bring the evening to a close.

PAGLIACCI

A clown who must make the audience laugh although his heart is breaking is the central character in Ruggeria Leoncavallo's melodramatic opera, "Pagliacci".

The UM Opera Workshop and the Montana Masquers combined their talents in presenting "Pagliacci" and "Cavalleria Rusticana" under the direction of Firman H. Brown and John Lester.

Tonio, the hunchback, is aware of Nedda's unfaithfulness to her husband.

The one-act opera, "Pagliacci", combines the talents of the music and drama departments.

The jealous clown, Canio, has stabbed his unfaithful wife and is about to take the life of her lover.

CAVALLERIA RUSTICANA

The one-act Italian opera "Cavalleria Rusticana" is a tragic love story written by Pietro Mascagni.

The lead and several parts in the two operas were performed by different singers each night to give cast members an opportunity to sing a number of parts.

After Turiddo admits his guilt to Alfio, he bids his mother farewell.

TOM SAWYER

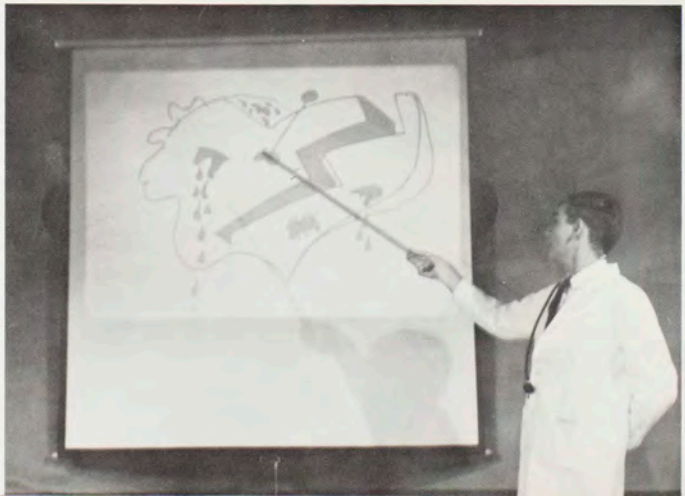

The Children's Theater again makes a hit with Mark Twain's "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer." With Daniel Witt directing, Les Hankinson (Tom Sawyer) and Ted Ulmer (Huck Finn) lead the cast through adventure. This, the second Masquer production for children, was highly successful and will insure the continuation of Children's Theater next year.

Duncan Crump heads the rest home's medical staff.

REST HOME

The doctor presents daily lectures to his elderly patients.

Pratt (Jim Baker) portrays the rest home's reluctant centenarian.

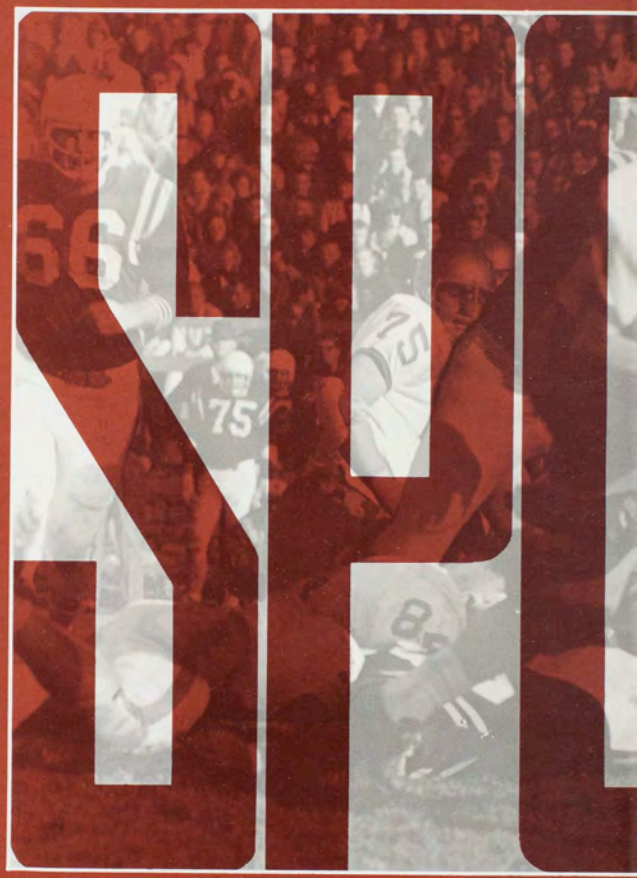

For their outstanding performances in "Rest Home", two actresses received Masquers awards. For her portrayal of Mrs. Pratt, Georgia Tree was selected as best actress. Best supporting actress was Mary Jane Williams who played Nurse Helga Helmgrim.

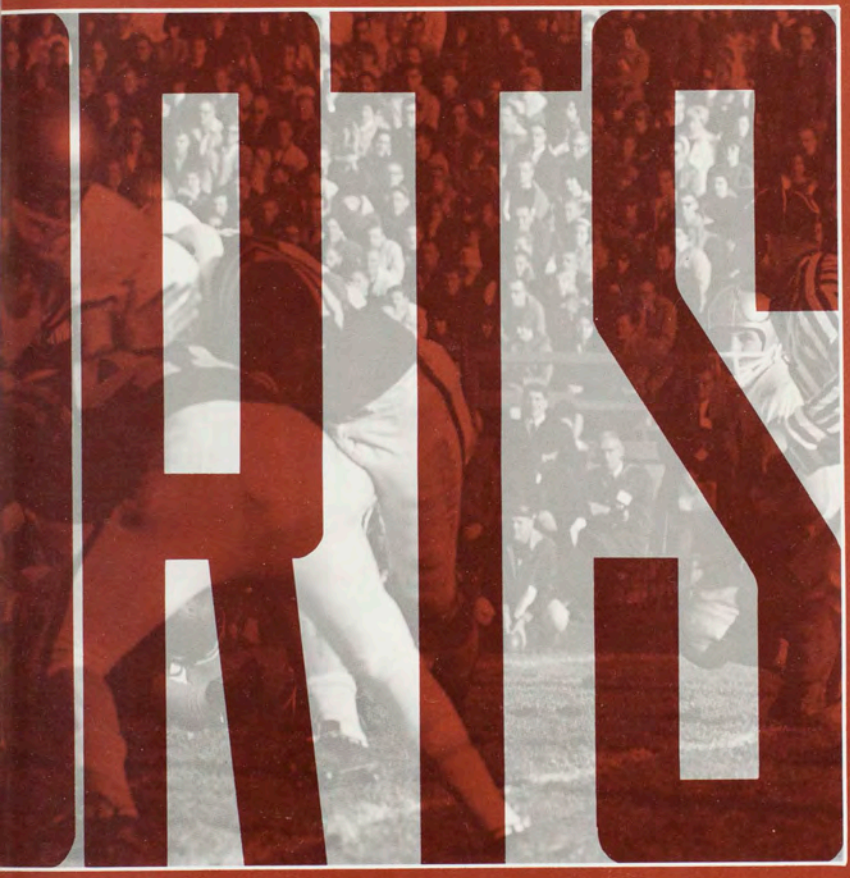

The play which earned Masquer honors for these actresses was a story of a rest home staff's efforts to have a centenarian among their patients in the hope that this might improve the home's reputation.

The production was written and directed by associate professor of drama, Douglas Bankson.

Georgia Tree, in an award-winning performance, portrays Mrs. Pratt.

The Grizzlies posted a three-won, six-lost record over the 1964 season, and finished third in the Big Sky Athletic Conference with one win and two losses in league play.

In his first season as head coach, Hugh Davidson brought the Grizzly attack to life by replacing Montana's plodding single wing with a pro-style, split-end and flanker offense built around the running of all-conference halfback Paul Connelly and the passing of quarterback Bob Benzley.

The Grizzly defense, led by all-conference linebacker Wayne Harrington and co-captain Jerry Luchau, battled stubbornly against Montana's deeper opponents, only to tire during the late stages of games, after spending the better part of most Saturday afternoons on the field.

The Montana freshmen team played strong football in 1964, winning two games, tieing one, and losing one. The Cubs were blessed with a potent offense, headed by a wonderfully quick halfback, Willie Jones. Quarterback Jim Searles threw well to Greg Hanson and Dewey Allen. A rugged line showed it could play both offense and defense.

Cub victories came at the expense of Montana State College, 20-6, and Northern Montana College, 42-7. The Frosh tied the University of Idaho's freshmen 16-16 on a pair of last-minute pass completions by Searles, and dropped a tough one to Idaho State University's freshmen, 23-20, on a 97-yard drive by ISU late in the fourth quarter.

Outstanding Grizzlies Receive Post-Season Awards

Several Grizzlies were selected to the all-conference teams in 1964. Paul Connolly, a halfback, and Wayne Harrington, a linebacker, made the first All-Big Sky eleven, while end Bob Crippen, tackle Mike Tilleman, and guard Floyd Joramo all were chosen to the second team.

Connelly, in his first year with the Grizzlies, was second in the Big Sky in yards gained rushing, with 595. Harrington was a standout as a linebacker, and shared the all-conference center slot with MSC's Terry Albrecht.

The Terry Dillon "22" Award was established in Dillon's memory by Miss Lorraine Berry, his fiancee at the time of his death in May, 1964. Each year the Grizzly squad chooses the winner by voting for its most valuable player.

Grizzlies

The Grizzlies had their best season in four years, winning 11 and losing 15. Individual players showed great promise, but the Silvertips never seemed to reach their potential as a unit.

Transfer Ed Samelton and old hand Gary Meggelin led the Grizzlies this year. Samelton, a forward, was the team's top scorer, averaging 18.4 points per game. He received the C. R. Dragstedt award as the Grizzlies' Most Valuable Player, and was selected to the second team of the BSC's all-conference squad. Meggelin, a senior guard, ranked second in scoring, and his defensive skill won him the John F. Earheart award as Best Defensive Player. Guard Wade Hughes displayed much talent as a ball handler and play maker. Both Hughes and Meggelin received honorable mention in the All-BSC selections. Center Tom Schilke developed into a capable big man under both baskets as the season progessed, and his teammates voted him the squad's most improved player.

Norm Clark, an exciting player who saw action as a guard and a forward, was third in scoring with an average of 14.7 and led the team in another important department, snagging 13.2 rebounds per game.

On the road. . .

When it comes time to travel, a college basketball team must endure radical changes in its environment, both before and during games. Here guard Wade Hughes acquiesces to the demands made on traveling players. Sound asleep on the plane to Ogden, and then intense under the Weber State basket a few hours later, Hughes shows that an athlete on the road must rest when he can, and still play as hard as ever.

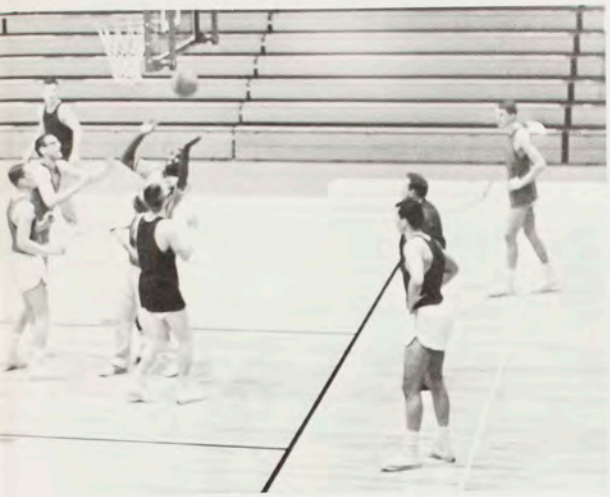

An afternoon workout in the enemy's gym, locker room strategy and courtside tactics over the din of strange cheers and unknown songs—all these are different. But the game is the same. The action is still hot and blurred, and the bench, as ever, is tense, attentive.

Coach Fred Stetson.

The swimming story for 1965 is one of mostly inexperienced personnel attempting to compete against schools with larger-scale swimming programs. Fred Stetson's crew trained hard to prepare for Big Sky and independent meets, and made creditable showings.

Team members Ed Maguire and Lee MacDonald performed well by any standards. MacDonald scored 324.75 points in one-meter diving and 308 points in three-meter diving at the Big Sky meet here to take the conference diving championship. Maguire, the team captain, set a new conference and pool record by swimming the 500-yard freestyle in a time of 5:42.9. He also finished third in both the 100- and 200-yard freestyle events.

The 1965 track and field season was a difficult one in the Northwest. The Montana Grizzlies were forced to cancel a meet with Weber State College in Missoula because of poor weather. A week later the weather at Pocatello, Idaho, was bad enough to cause a triangular meet between Idaho State, Weber, and the Grizzlies to be called off. The Silvertips lost to MSC in the rain at Bozeman, but bounced back to defeat a strong Idaho squad 74-71 on Dornblaster Field. The Montana track men wound up the year with a second-place finish at the Big Sky meet, scoring 106 points to Idaho State University's 131. The results of the BSC meet follow: Idaho State, 131; Montana, 106; Idaho, 96; Montana State, 54; Weber State, 54.

The Grizzlies had a chance to perform for campus fans when they defeated Weber State College here in a dual meet.

This Idaho Vandal scored as the relay came to the plate too high for Brian Cloutier to make the tag.

The Grizzly baseball team combined tight fielding, timely hitting, and usually good pitching to produce a record of 16 wins and 11 losses. This was the best season for a Montana baseball squad since the 1956 team won 10 and lost 6 games. The Grizzlies placed fifth in the Big Sky Conference with 4 wins and eight losses in league play.

First baseman Frank Spear was selected to the all-conference first team. Pitcher Larry Oddy made the second team, while scrappy second baseman Dewey Allen and centerfielder Bob Vick received honorable mention. Vick led the Grizzlies in hitting with a .323 average. Allen paced the Tips in runs scored with 27, an average of one per game.

NASEBY RHINEHART

Grizzly Trainer For 30 Years

When an Idaho State player was felled by a poke in the eye this year, Naseby came off the Grizzly bench to his side as the action swirled off down the court. By the time this picture was taken, a doctor had taken over the situation. Naseby, towel in hand, looks on at left.

A veteran of three decades of sitting on team benches, Naseby serenely checks the scoreboard while Grizzly basketball coach Ron Nord frets.

Milwaukee to Missoula
To A Great Many Friends

Naseby Rhinehart is a part of Montana athletics. A native of Milwaukee, he played end on the city champion high school football teams there in 1928 and 1929. He starred for Grizzly football, basketball, and track teams from 1932 to 1935, winning three varsity letters in each sport. And he has been trainer for Montana squads ever since he graduated from UM. Naseby is also an instructor in the care and prevention of athletic injuries for the Department of Health and Physical Education.

His merit has not gone unnoticed over the years. He received Honorable Mention All-America recognition for his end play with the Grizzlies, and is in the UM Football Hall of Fame. Nase was awarded the Grizzly Cup in his senior year for outstanding sports participation, scholastic achievement, and loyalty to the University.

In 1956, on Naseby Rhinehart Night, some 300 former Grizzly athletes assembled in the Fieldhouse to honor him with gifts and speeches. He was nominated for the 1959 Sports Illustrated Silver Anniversary All-America football team. The next year, the Roy T. Rocene Sportsman of the Year Award went to the Montana trainer.

1964-65 was Naseby's thirtieth year as trainer at UM. During his time here, Nase has become the friend of coaches, players, and students. Of the many compliments that have been paid him, an excerpt from a telegram sent on the occasion of Rhinehart Night by former athletic director and head football coach Doug Fessenden is representative:

> "His influence as a friend, confidant, and adviser has meant a great deal to Montana athletes for many years. He is certainly one of the fine gentlemen of college athletics."

He certainly is.

INTRAMURALS

The University of Montana boasts a well-rounded intramural sports program. Students who ability is eclipsed by their enthusiasm find the organized leagues welcome outlets for their excess energy.

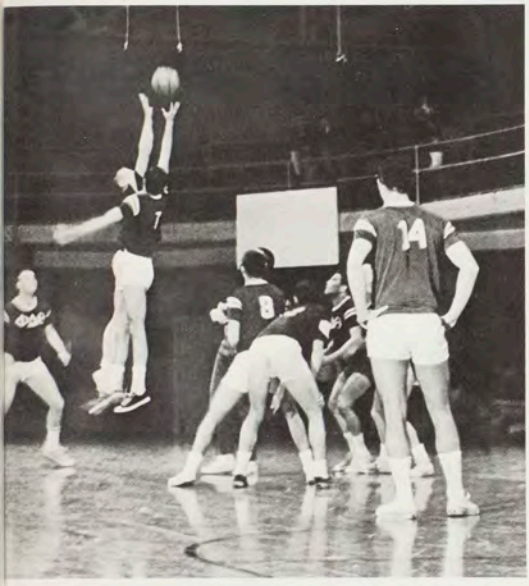

Living groups and organizations enter teams in competition that sometimes becomes rather spirited, especially in contact sports. For those who forget that participation is the important thing, a corps of referees is recruited from the student body.

Games are well attended and usually worth watching. The action is rapid, if inexpert, and the better teams exhibit a precision that can come only as the result of long hours of practice together.

As the seasons pass, the size and shape of the ball changes, but interest remains high.

Basketball fans strain forward in the Men's Gym to see the shifting action below them.

A base runner scores in a joyous leap; a girl breaks into a grin at the baseball efforts of someone she knows.

Intramurals have something for everyone: those who like to play, and those who enjoy just watching.

The fraternity, Phi Delta Theta, won the 1964-65 Intramural Sports Championship. The Phi Delts won titles in basketball, swimming, volleyball, table tennis, horse shoes, track and baseball. Phi Delta tied with runner-up Sigma Nu for the football crown, with third-place Sigma Alpha Epsilon for the bowling championship, and with fourth-place Sigma Phi Epsilon for pool surpremacy.

Sigma Nu reigned alone in golf and wrestling, and Sigma Chi took skiing honors. Theta Chi won the tennis championship.

BILL RICE

Outstanding Senior

Bill Rice was selected the outstanding U of M senior athlete for 1964-65. The six-foot, five-inch Rice, whose home is in Chadron, Nebraska, has won four letters in track and three in basketball.

Rice holds the state record of 46 feet, 6½ inches, in the triple-jump, and school record in the high jump with a 6 feet, 7¾ inch mark.

ORIENTATION WEEK

developing reliable friendships for future college days.

At the end of Freshman Camp outstanding members are elected to help group leaders with Orientation Week.

Arriving at their new residence, the naive freshmen are escorted about the campus by time-proven students extolling the virtues of the new form of existence the anxious learners will follow. Under the instruction of group leaders and faculty advisors, class schedules are set up.

The Associated Women Student Big-Little Sister Party acquaints the women with the mechanisms of the organization. Later a registration dance mixes all elements of the coming "great society".

Even experienced students like Jan Lord find moving in a mass of confusion.

REGISTRATION

Where did it come from? Where does it go? Why is it here? The confusion of moving into the reduced space of one small shared room could best be typified by these questions. There is only one thing which tries the patience and intelligence of a person more—the long disassembled mess in the field house known as registration.

Carol Pilgerim pulls class cards during registration.

Standing in line is as much a part of the college tradition as is Main Hall.

RUSH

Competition on Greek row is increased this year as a new sorority, Alpha Omicron Pi, begins rushing for members. The polished salesmanship of the houses resulted in three hundred new members being taken into the brotherhood of fraternal living.

Fall rush involves many handshakes and smiles, as exemplified by Sigma Alpha Epsilon members, John Warren and Roy Stanley.

SIGMA CHI DERBY

SCOTTA HERRIN—DERBY DAY QUEEN

DAYS

What can propel a derby faster than a Sigma Chi man pursued by hordes of shrieking, dignified sorority pledges? Perhaps it is going to see these sorority pledges destroy previous reserve in the contests of Derby Day. Scotta Herrin, Derby Day Queen, exemplifies the plotting female most Sigma Chi's don't run from.

Relay races require Sheila MacDonald and Sue Carlson to keep their cups of "mush" intact.

John Quist is kissed by Penny Rothrock during the Derby Days kissing contest.

HOMECOMING

Jean Evenskaas and Jack Russell transpose chicken wire and napkins into a prize winning float.

Putt, putt, putt, putt.

Kitty Van Vliet, '63 Homecoming Queen, congratulates Mary Sullivan.

The Synadelphic-Phi Sigma Kappa float captures the Centennial theme of the parade.

MARY SULLIVAN—HOMECOMING QUEEN

Glittering queens, a spectacular parade, the possibility of grid iron victory and the renewing of old memories welcome the alumni to their alma mater. These former students now bask in the memories of years gone by.

The highlight of the 1964 Homecoming was the Roger Williams concert on Saturday night.

ROGER WILLIAMS

After the victorious game, the crowds relaxed to an evening of enchanting melodies. Filling the Field House with reminiscences was the famed pianist, Roger Williams.

CAMPUS VIEWS POLITICS

A view of national politics is brought to campus preceding the national elections by the Republican candidate for the Vice Presidency, William Miller.

William Miller campaigns for Barry Goldwater in the University Theater.

Speaking with students in the grill is Rory Calhoun.

The salesmen of a party and image sweeps through Missoula in a state-wide Republican campaign. U of M plays host to Governor Babcock supported by state candidates and movie star Rory Calhoun.

Hannah Hubbard and Rose Johnson prepare another meal.

Students use expanded food service facilities.

Students find new choice and variety at the cafeteria this year.

U OF M EXPANDS

The gleaming new counters of the cafeteria are the converging spot on campus for most students.

The new director of the cafeteria, Robert B. Blakely, has set up a program to acquire student suggestions for the food service. Two students from each dorm meet with Mr. Blakely and his staff to discuss complaints and possible improvements.

Montana's only educational FM radio station, KUFM, offers students practical broadcasting experience. Operating five days a week from 7:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m., the non-profit organization provides classical music and modern jazz supplemented with local and international news commentary.

Raymond Dilley and Phil Hess become oriented to the new KUFM radio station.

Ron Kazmierczak displays his ability with a chain saw.

Lawyer hangs for theft of Bertha.

FORESTERS' BALL

The Foresters' Ball, one of the biggest social events on campus, is the result of many months of preparation.

The footprints of Paul Bunyan and his Blue Ox, Babe, signal the start of the festivities.

Next comes the Foresters' Convocation – a satire of campus people, activities, and institutions.

An incessant flow of verbiage from the barristers keeps the student body informed as to the whereabouts of Bertha, the foresters' mascot.

Skill tests in the Baby Oval prime students for the forthcoming ball.

Following the theme, "One-hundred years of MSU Forestry," foresters convert the Field House into an old logging camp.

The level of activities connected with the two-evening ball is increased by the Grizzly-Bobcat game.

Jan VanWinkle and her date, Mike Power, leave the saloon.

Don Cowles looks very Roman in his yard party costume.

YARD PARTY

The organized fun of fraternity life is typified by the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Yard Party, for which the willing women are supplied one yard of material with which they are to attire themselves modestly.

PEPPERMINT PRINCE

The Peppermint Prince title goes yearly to the one delegate from all men's living groups who, in the eyes of the freshmen, personifies those qualities attractive to each of them. In other word, "he's cute".

Jim Stegmiller applauds Triangle's choice of Larry Jeffrey as Peppermint Prince while Jan Comeaux, president, crowns him.

Bonnie Beals crowns her successor, Carol Boetcher; Patcee Bradford, Jan Conley, and Juanita Smith serve as attendants.

Dan Witt, master of ceremonies, and Bonnie Beals, '64 Miss MSU, prepare for the coronation that marks the end of Bonnie's reign.

MISS UM PAGEANT

To the music of "Stranger in Paradise," twenty-six University of Montana coeds filed on to the University Theater stage. So began an evening of competition for U of M's most coveted crown. A theme of "Scheherezade" was the background for talent and beauty competition. Variety was added to beauty by Master of Ceremonies, Dan Witt, the Jubileers, Joyce Stecher, and Mr. and Mrs. John Lester, parents of the 1961 Miss MSU.

The queen contestants make last minute preparations.

A happy Miss UM is applauded by fellow contestants.

CAROL BOETCHER—MISS UM

The pageant was climaxed by the coronation of the 1965 Miss U of M, Carol Boetcher, by outgoing queen, Bonnie Beals. Miss Boetcher's attendants were: Jan Conley, first runner-up; Patcee Bradford, second runner-up; and Janita Smith, winner of the talent award.

MILLER HALL

Beds that convert into couches, spacious bookshelves above the beds, a sunken lounge, typing and music rooms are all incorporated as parts of UM's newest men's dormitory, Miller Hall. The dorm, which is situated behind the Lodge on Arthur Avenue, is the first dormitory on campus to be named after a living person. Now retired, Burley Miller has long been associated with the University and the history department.

Vending machines and television, found in the basement lounge, are popular with the men.

The new dorm is attractive inside and out.

Pay telephones are provided for long distance calls.

The spacious lounge may be cleared for functions.

SNOW-SKI WEEKEND

A tell-tail view of the weekend's fun.

Admiring "Old King Cole" are Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan.

Anxious skiers patiently wait for another ride up the lift.

Jan Conley stops for a rest against a breath-taking view of the valley.

Skiing is not all ups.

UM skiers found powder and excitement at Big Mountain ski area near Whitefish. After spending the day on the slopes, students gathered in the evening for a torchlight parade and a dance.

At home, campus living groups used snow to mold characters from Mother Goose Land. Judges, selected by AWS, chose as best the figure of Old King Cole, sculptored by residents of Knowles Hall and members of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Knowles Hall Can-can Girls entertain at the James Bond dance.

WINTER WONDERLANDS

The Theta Chi's relax to the music of the Blue Hawks.

Colorfully bedecked couples pause for refreshments.

Formal functions occupy a large portion of the winter quarter activity calendar and begin the reign of a host of new fraternity queens. Gathering under dimmed lights in gayly decorated ballrooms, couples find enjoyable entertainment while dining and dancing. The drabness of the outside scene is counterbalanced by the dazzling array of formals and tuxedos gathered under a canopy of themes ranging from the "Taj Mahal" through "A Wonderland by Night" to James Bond's "Goldfinger".

Sherry Brumley, surrounded by attendants and escorts, is crowned Alpha Tau Omega Esquire Queen by chapter president, Warren Wenz.

Jim Stegmiller, master of ceremonies, adds color to a Friday at 4:00.

FRIDAY AT FOUR

Friday at Four is the most popular thing to hit campus since student apathy. The crowds drawn by these Student Union sponsored hootenanies even surpasses the enrollment in the Courtship and Marriage class. Student performers bring the week to a refreshing end and cause planners to see the need to expand the seating capacity of the grill.

The New Directions and Important Breakthroughs Jug Band adds ethnic quality to the program.

Crowd watches new jug band make important breakthroughs in new directions.

MATRIX TABLE

Nearly 400 UM and Missoula women were honored at the Matrix Honor Table banquet, sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi. Guest speaker Marty Camp, TV producer from Seattle, discussed television programming and interviewing. Among the distinguished guests at the banquet was Dorothy R. Powers, UM journalism graduate who is a columnist and editorial writer for the Spokesman-Review. Also, four UM coeds were honored as outstanding women in their classes. Jan Comeaux, Faye Bourret, Mary Sullivan, and Sharron Lee were selected on the basis of scholarship and service to the University.

Pictured with Mary Ellen Myrene, Theta Sigma Phi president, (far right) are the four outstanding coeds honored at Matrix Table. From the left, they are Jan Comeaux (freshman), Faye Bourret (sophomore), Mary Sullivan (junior), and Sharron Lee (senior).

CHARTER DAY

The 72-year history of friction between MSC and UM must end if higher education in Montana is to advance, according to Leon Johnson, president of Montana State College. Mr. Johnson, speaking at ceremonies marking the 72nd anniversary of UM, said duplication and financial problems have existed between the two institutions since they were chartered in the 1893 legislature.

Leon Johnson, MSC president, addresses the UM Charter Day Convo.

VISITING LECTURERS

While on leave from United Press International, Aline Mosby, UM graduate and former Missoula resident, told students of her experiences as a woman correspondent in Russia. Miss Mosby's book, "The View From No. 13 People's Street," relates her life and work in Moscow where she was one of two reporters who interviewed Lee Oswald.

International correspondent Aline Mosby told students that the fashions and the department stores in Russia are far behind those in the United States.

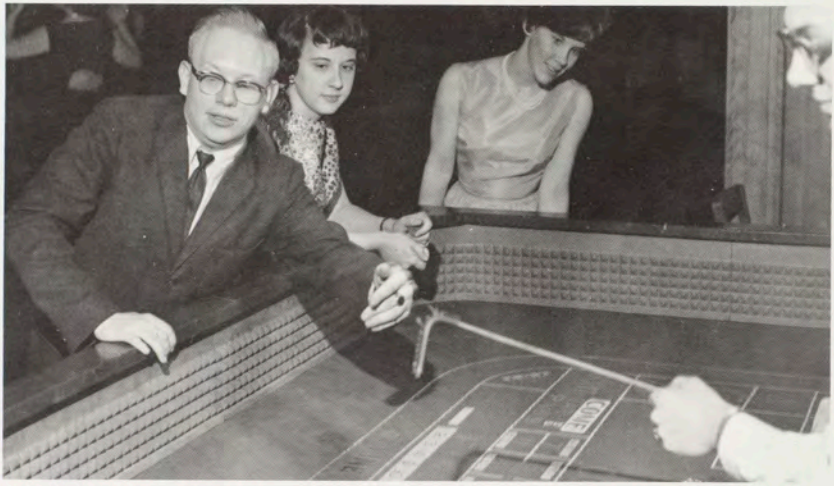

Eric Salmon, actor-director, and his actress wife, Janet Crowder, presented a series of famous encounters between the sexes from various dramas in a recital, "Woman and Man." The presentations sought "to show some of the talk that men have made about women and women have made about men and that authors have made about both." Earlier Mr. Salmon had delivered a lecture in the University Theater.

British performers, Eric Salmon and his wife, Jane Crowder, presented a dramatic recital, "Woman and Man."

MARIAN McKAY AND BRIAN KNAFF

MARDI GRAS QUEEN AND KING

Amidst roulette, blackjack, and crap table, Marian McKay and Brian Knaff were crowned Queen and King of the Mardi Gras. The Newman Club dance featured Go-Go Girls who served refreshments and assisted at the gambling tables which were operated "strictly for entertainment."

"Doc" Severisen is accompanied in concert by the UM band under the direction of David Whitwell.

Politics, jazz, folk singing, ballads were available to students through concerts and lectures. "Doc" Severisen, assistant orchestra conductor for the "Tonight Show," conducted a workshop and two concerts, Senator Lee Metcalf visited campus, and folk singers and balladeers such as Jacob Niles and the Christy Minstrels performed.

After presenting a flag to the Law School, Senator Lee Metcalf addresses an assemblage in the Music Recital Hall.

Every seat in the Music Recital Hall was filled, students sat in the aisles and beneath the stage and still more came. Finally, folding chairs were crowded on the stage until there was barely room for the slight, white-haired gentleman to make his way to the microphones. It was crowded, uncomfortable, and hot, yet the audience seemed to forget its discomfort as the 73-year-old balladeer, Jacob Niles, sang and played the music that has brought him fame for over 50 years. During the concert, Niles plucked one of the 30 dulcimers which he has tooled himself to accompany ballads such as "I Wonder As I Wander" and "Black Is the Color of My True Love's Hair," both of which he composed.

During winter quarter, members of the Paul Winter's Jazz Sextet displayed the concert jazz ability that has won them acclaim in 25 countries. The sextet proved the ability of jazz as a medium of cultural exchange during a six-month tour of Latin America for the State Department in 1962. As a result of the success of that tour, the group became the first jazz ensemble ever to play in the White House. The sextet was sponsored at UM by the Student Union Cultural Committee.

After a concert in the University Theater, the Paul Winter's Jazz Sextet visited with students at a reception in the Lodge.

The Christy Minstrels drew a large crowd at the UM Field House.

The Christy Minstrels, originating from a group started by Edward P. Christy in 1842, were engaged for an evening's entertainment at UM. This new version of the Christy Minstrels got its start in 1961 when Randy Sparks expanded his trio. Since that time, the group has attained wide-spread fame, with its biggest stepping stone being a performance for world dignitaries at a presidential dinner. Its popularity has spread through Europe and in the near future the Minstrels will make a State Department sponsored tour of the USSR.

The Christy Minstrels relax during intermission.

INTERCOLLEGIATE RODEO

The Grizzly Rodeo Club was host of a rodeo which featured students from ten other colleges in men's, women's and novice events. Brigham Young University easily captured first place in the men's events while the women of Montana State College had little trouble controlling their division.

Chosen queen of UM's seventh annual Intercollegiate Rodeo was Jill Webster, a Missoula freshman in history, who acquired her title in riding, personality, and beauty competition. Announcing the events was Don Harrington of Butte with Bill Lawrence and Marty Backstrom as judges. Official timers were Mrs. Lawrence and Mrs. Backstrom.

BANQUETS

Guests relax after dinner at the 18th Annual Business Administration Scholarship Awards Banquet. After dinner, Hugh Galusha Jr., president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis, delivered an address and six seniors received recognition awards.

Seniors are honored, scholarships are awarded, new members are initiated, and addresses are heard at a multitude of banquets which crowd the spring quarter calender. For most organizations and honoraries, the spring banquet closes another year of activities.

The senior women of Knowles Hall are honored at a dinner in the Lodge.

The Cosmopolitan Dinner at the First Methodist Church featured foods, displays, and talents from the numerous nations represented on the UM campus.

Army and Air Force officers and their wives visit during the Military Ball.

TARGET: WORLD PEACE

Decorations of paper mache and crepe paper set the scene for "Target: World Peace" which was the theme of the Annual Military Ball. The formal, one of the best attended events of the year, is sponsored by the Air Force and Army units of the ROTC Department. Selected from twelve stunningly-gowned coeds to reign as queen of the ball was Peggy Rismon, a junior from Billings. After her coronation, the queen and her date led the grand march.

Queen candidates were escorted to the stage and introduced before the selection of Military Ball Queen Peggy Rismon (second from left) was announced.

The Charlie Brown campaign drew much attention but few votes.

ELECTIONS

The Charlie Brown campaign, which included a hootenanny on the steps of Main Hall, was a protest against apathy and inefficiency in student government.

Speeches, pictures, posters, and hootenannies were all part of the ASUM election which resulted in the selection of John Ross for the campus's prize political post. In an election that was marked by light voting, the returns were close in many races.

BLOOD DRIVE

The University of Montana emerged the victor in the bloodiest of all battles between Missoula and arch rival Bozeman. UM received the traveling trophy for donating the most blood during the semi-annual Red Cross Blood Drive.

LEADERSHIP CAMP

The planned expansion of the University of Montana graduate school and its probable effects were the topics of speeches and question-answer periods during Leadership Camp on Flathead Lake. Students representing all campus organizations and living groups participated in the three-day study and relaxation retreat.

Although an ability to swim is no longer required for graduation, it is recommended for Leadership Camp.

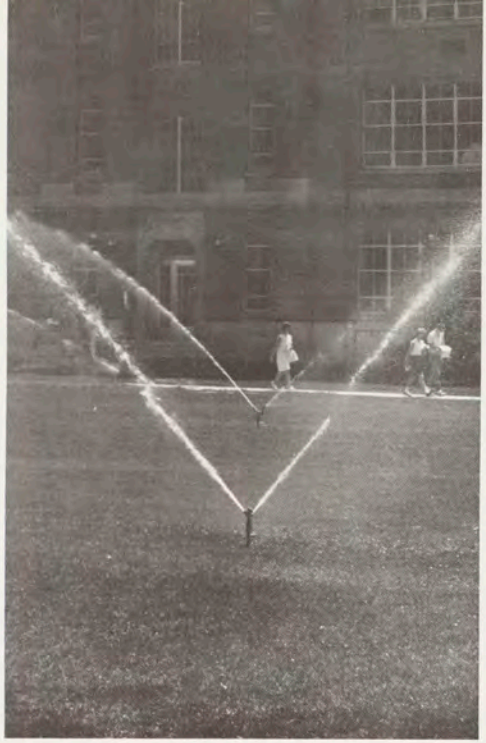

SPRING

IS

SPRUNG. . .

Yes, spring arrived at UM with all of her usual traditions as well as a few new attractions.

Sunbathers were out at the first sight of blue sky, but the weather was very uncooperative; once again students were called upon to display their skill at avoiding sprinklers and found that the surest way was to walk on the grass, avoiding the sidewalks on all possible occasions; the maintenance department sprayed and raked and clipped and cut in an effort to retain the fast-changing campus's traditional beauty.

But unlike other springs, this one brought to UM skateboards and boomerangs. Also, spring brought to the Student Health Service students with breaks and sprains who found they could not master such skills.

In the closing moments of the Awards Convocation, the silver punch bowl (right) was presented to Delta Gamma sorority for outstanding citizenship. Awards were presented to 106 students and living groups.

GRADUATION—1965

Dr. Frank Abbott, UM academic vice president, visits with parents at a reception prior to the commencement dinner at which he delivered an address.

As has been done for the last 40 years, seniors assembled at Main Hall on Friday morning and marched in a group to the University Theater for the awards convocation, better known as "Senior Swing Out." So began the busiest week-end of a senior's college career—graduation.

Saturday afternoon, Dornblaser Field was the sight of military ceremonies in which thirty-five ROTC cadets, including nine distinguished military graduates, were commissioned as second lieutenants in the Army and Air Force.

That evening, a reception in the Lodge for the seniors, their parents, and members of the faculty was followed by a commencement dinner.

Later in the evening, seniors attended their final Singing On the Steps where the Robert Sibby Award was presented to the outstanding senior man, Dale Schwanke. Senior women were honored by their underclass coeds in the AWS Lantern Parade after the SOS.

Finally, at 2 p.m. on June 6, commencement ceremonies began in the Field House. The 1965 class was the first to be graduated on Sunday; it was the last class to receive diplomas bearing the "MSU" title.

From The Editor's Desk:

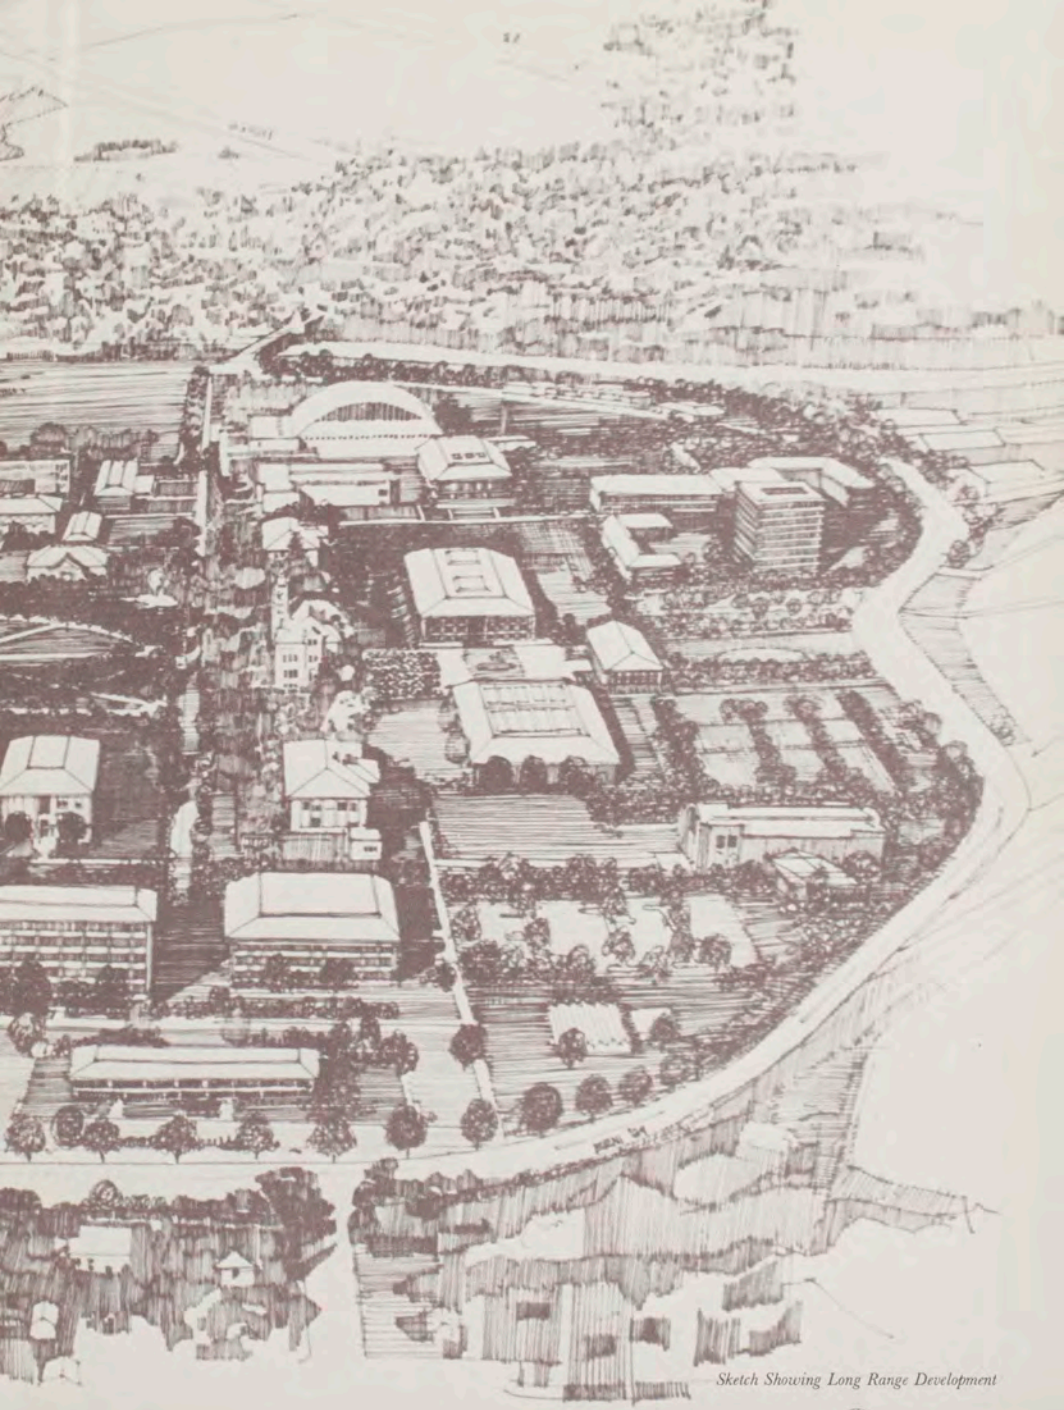

Throughout the year, as the 1965 Sentinel staff has worked together to compile this book, one we hope you will enjoy in twenty years as well as today, I have kept the following quote in my desk to glance at when the going got tough. And now before you place this yearbook on the shelf to collect dust, let me share these words with you:

> "If I were to try to read, much less answer, all the attacks made on me, this shop might as well be closed for any other business. I do the very best I know how – the very best I can; and I mean to keep doing so until the end. If the end brings me out all right, what is said against me won't amount to anything. If the end brings me out wrong, ten angels swearing I was right would make no difference.
> Abraham Lincoln

Make no little plans; they have no magic to stir men's blood and probably themselves will not be realized. Make big plans: aim high in hope and work, remembering that a noble, logical diagram once recorded will never die, but long after we are gone will be a living thing, asserting itself with ever-growing insistency. Remember that our sons and grandsons are going to do things that would stagger us.

Daniel H. Burnham
